You'll enjoy this.

The talking points look good to me. I would underscore the 'resource constraints ' with hat tip to state & locals who have hundreds of staff in each regulatory program statewide, and we have roughly 45 inspectors across all media programs (responsible for 4 states, Pacific Islands and Indian Country).

Thanks for the response, Joel.

Sorry for the short turn-around time, but here are draft talking points for KJ to consider. We only got the scenario yesterday. The first page of the doc gives you the scoop on panel format. There are quite a few panelists. The moderator is Helen Kang.

Any suggestions / red flags in terms of talking points?

Mike, I'm copying you here since Elizabeth is out. I'll give these to her sometime before she gets on the plane ;)

Impressive list. Sierra Club and Communities for Better Environment have both been active in the community re Exide, the Office of Congresswoman Roybal-Allard (she represents the District including Vernon-Boyle Heights area) and of course Father John Moretta.

Folks, I asked South Coast for a list of registrants for Friday and got it this morning. Please do not circulate since the notes in the far right column are my own. I also filled in org type.

Close to 400 people are registered but they are anticipating no-shows.

Amy, I see a few folks from Esperanza Housing are listed. Joel I don't think I recognize any names from the Exide groups you worked with but I don't know them well.

The two biggest groups represented are NGOs (120 or so) and then business at over 60.

Connell, copying you here as there are quite a few transport related consultants and govt entities represented.

Final agenda attached.
